ONLY ONE STATE

he Single Statehood Convention At Oklahoma City Eclipses All
Former Efforts.

OVER TWO THOUSAND

Delegates Assemble—No Place in the City Large Enough To Hold the Convention.
Great Street, Parade
At Noon.

The single statehood convention held at Oklahoma City Tuesday was the greatest demonstration on the subject of statehood yet made in the two territories. It went far beyond the expectation of the executive committee which planned and called it. The Indian territory alone had over fifteen hundred delegates on the ground and the territory of Oklahoma about half as many more.

The movement in favor of uniting the territories in a single state is now practically unanimous.
There was not a hall in the city of Oklahoma City large enough to furnish standing room for the delegates in attendance. The Indian territory delegates outnumbered the Oklahomans two or three to one.

Senator Gideon Morgan of the Cherokee nation was elected permanent chairman by a unanimous vote. Henry D. Johnson of the Chickasaw permanent secretary.

The convention was called to order at 3:20 o'clock by J. A. Taylor of Wynnewood, chairman of the executive committee of the non-partisan single statehood organization. Prayer was offered by Rev. A. Grant Evans of Muscogee. Mayor C. G. Jones of Oklahoma City welcomed the delegates to "the most single statehood community in Oklahoma."

He said that Oklahoma City wanted single statehood for commercial reasons. The question of capital location would not be considered till single statehood came.

C. Heyman, president of the chamber of commerce, told of Oklahoma City's commercial possessions and said that seventy-five wholesale houses did a business of $18,125,000 in 1902.

"If the other towns of Oklahoma and Indian territory," he continued, "will fall in line on single statehood, they can fight out among themselves the question of capital location."

Henry M. Furman of Ardmore, the orator of the Chickasaw country, responded for Indian territory. He asked Oklahomans how they would feel if Indian territory should be given statehood and all the state institutions be located here while Oklahoma was added to the state in piecemeal. "You could put on your fighting clothes that's what you'd do, and that is the way the people of Indian territory are arrayed against the omnibus bill. We will fight double statehood till hell freezes over and the little devils are skating on the ice."

Ex Governor William Jenkins was spokesman for Oklahoma in welcoming Indian territory, and was applauded when he stepped forward and began speaking. He earnestly declared himself in favor of immediate single statehood for the territories, and called attention to his report to the Secretary of the Interior, in which he took this position several years ago.

The temporary officers as agreed upon in caucus were confirmed by the convention. Palmer is an Osage citizen and Johnson a Chickasaw citizen. After the speech making the committees were announced. The resolutions committee was composed of:

Oklahoma—O B Ames, Oklahoma City; Charles F Barrett, Shawnee; Thomas H Doyle, Perry; W L Alexander, Hobart; George Smith, Lincoln county.

Indian Territory—W A Ledbetter, Chickasaw nation; W E Utterback, Choctaw; F F Lamb, Creek; C P Linn, Seminole; W H Kornegay, Cherokee.

At the evening session the committee on resolutions reported with a lengthy string of resolutions declaring in the main for immediate single statehood and endorsing the salient features of the Beveridge bill.

Convention Notes.

Pliny L. Soper is one federal office holder who is not backward in taking a position on the question of single statehood. He attended the big Oklahoma convention and made himself heard, too.

W. H. Kornegay took care of the interests of the east side on the committee on resolutions.
When a constitutional convention is called Kornegay ought to be a member of that body.

When the convention sought a representative Cherokee it found him in the person of Gid Morgan.

Ridge Paschal's speech in the Indian Territory caucus at Hotel Lee was one of the features of the convention.

An Osage Indian, John Palmer, of Pawhuska, divided the honors with Henry Furman in the matter of "spellbinding."
